Outrage Occurred on Hermitage Road at Union Stock Yards. Sadler in Hospital.

J. A. Sadler, thirty-five years old, of Glen Allen, was shot at three times and wounded twice last night at 915 o'clock by an unidentified negro highwayman, who attempted to hold him up in the Hermitage Road near the Richmond Union Stock Yards Company. He was found lying in the read by a party of automobilists, who hurried him to the Second Police Station for medical attention. After a brief examination Dr. H. T. Hawkins. City nospital ambulance surgeon, found that he had been shot in the left side just below the ribs and also in the upper part of his left leg. He was immediately removed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where further examination was made. It was said that while his exact condition could not be brief examination Dr. H. T. fancy and childhood, so far as Richmond statistics go.

"For example," said Dr. Levy, "scat-let fever which is much more dreaded, has caused but five deaths in Richmond in the past five years, while during the same period there have been eighty-three deaths from measles. The disease is the most contagious known in this climate. The slightest contact, apparently, is sufficient to cause this disease in one who has not been protected by a previous attack. "The early symptoms are 'nflammation and watering of the eyes and mose. Lesse symptoms are commonly mistaken for an ordinary cold. They appear usually about nine days after exposure, that is, about five days before the eruption comes on. During these five days any child, if he is developing the disease, is capable of giving it to others. Unless the disease has been recognized, children thus affected are not excluded from school and become thus sources of fresh infection. This was the way the epidemic system in 1910."

According to Iv. Levy, the present situation is one which should arouse the earnest attention of the physicians and people of Richmond. As already stated, the epidemic of 1910 began on March I and lasted until midsummer. The situation is regarded as all the more grave this year because of the lindications that the epidemic will make stated, the epidemic of 1910 segan on any activities in the Governor to-day about five trips before he finally mark 1 and lasted until midsummer. was in for an epidemic of measies. At that time there were just six cases of the disease in the city. The epidemic came promptly as predicted and in the single month of March, 248 cases were reported to the Health Department. Before the situation was under gon-troil the number had increased to 2.

Some Measles Data.

According to Dr. Levy, the measle wave is imminent despite the fact that the Health Department knows of only imminisen tdespitet heactthat wavel eleven cases in the city. Contrary to the popular belief, he said yesterday, measles is by long odds the most serious of all eruptive fevers of infancy and childhood, so far as Richmond statistics go.

"For example," said Dr. Levy, "scarlet fever which is much more dreaded, want time to meditate and weigh the points which he could make quivilently in decision day after the hearing, the Governor said he did not care to discuss the Ailen case in any shape or form.

Contrary to the almost universal equivocally on the matter until tomorrow or the first of next week. It is natural that after having announced his willingness to listen to arguments for the life of Claude Allen, he will want time to meditate and weigh the points which he care to discuss the Ailen case in any shape or form.

ing it to others. Unless the disease has been recognized, children thus affected are not excluded from school and become thus sources of fresh infection. This was the way the epidemic spread in 1916."

Every mother, said Dr. Levy, should regard with suspicion each case of inflamed eyes and running nose. When these symptoms appear, he said, the child should be immediately isolated and submitted to an examination by a physician. If they are really early symptoms of measles the case is at this stage highly contagious although the eruption will probably not appear for four or five days.

According to Dr. Levy, the present
